DeBrueys Schmidt, CDs 549:1, 550:1;552;1; 555:1,554:1

Of these, the only ones of which I have other pages is 554, of which I have 54,54,56,54, of which I believe 54 and 56 also go.

I see, incidentally, it is a minority, viewing all as something less than a strictly character.

These summary pages reflect, in part, the anxiety of the FBI investigation of him, and its futility, beginning with the Communist orientation - all of which is at best a dubious matter of opinion or belief.

These summaries, as I recall the other documents - have been, besides proofs of notebooks & relations in the balance of the files.

One thing I note in this is that we have at least: all this activity is of a certain period of time, early 1950.
